

INSULIN 101: USING INSULIN

HOW MUCH INSULIN SHOULD I USE?

It depends. Sometimes, people need to choose their dose of insulin. When choosing how much insulin to use, people need to think about what they plan to eat at the next meal, how much exercise they plan to do, and what their blood sugar level is.

People also usually need to change their insulin dose if they:

- » Have surgery, get sick, or get pregnant
- » Eat out or travel
- » Gain or lose weight
- » Ask your doctor or nurse how to change your insulin dose during these times.

HOW MANY TIMES A DAY SHOULD I USE INSULIN?

It depends. Your doctor will work with you to make a treatment plan that tells you

- » When to use insulin
- » What type of insulin to use
- » How much insulin to use

Some people use the same amount of insulin one or two times a day, at the same time each day. But many people use insulin three or more times a day, usually before each meal. Using insulin three or more times a day can control a person's blood sugar level better.
